AMBLER IN GAS FIGHT.

Organization to Oppose Gas Rate Increase.

Civic Protection Association of Ambler Will Organize the Opposition and Affiliate With Other Localities in Presenting Figures Before the Public Service Commission.

A largely attended meeting in Ambler town hall entered a formal protest against the increased gas rates, as proposed by the Philadelphia Suburban Gas and Electric company last Friday.

John L. Shoemaker, who was one of the first residents to take exception to the rate increase and has been in communication with the public service commission and committees in other nearby localities fighting the same public cause, acted as chairman of the meeting.

Addresses were made by Councilman Diver, of Ambler: J. Howard Graham, of Glenside; J. G. Kauffman, and others gave pertinent figures not only with regard to the status of the opposition in other communities, but also with regard to the manufacture of gas, its cost as based on the figures at hand, and several of the speakers took strong exception to the figures as prepared by officials of the gas campany with regard to valuation of plant, and cost of making the product and the returns derived therefrom, alleging that there is no reasonable basis for the increase as proposed.

The result of the meeting was the organization of the Civic Protective Association of Ambler, with the following officers: President John L. Shoemaker; secretary, Stuart H, MacIntyre; treasurer, Ellsworth L. Posey. The sense of the meeting was to affiliate with the other local communities in opposing the proposed rate of increase for gas.

A committee will be appointed by the chairman to canvass with locality for funds wherewith to assist in the presentation of the whole matter, from the consumers' standpoint, before the public service commission.

NEW SCHOOL FOR AMBLER.

Members of Board Are Studying the Problem.

Visitations Made to Abington and Darby—Mrs. Robert Smith Joins the Faculty—Finances Believed Sufficient for the Year.

That the Ambler school board will take action in the very near future looking towards erection of one of the most modern high schoool buildings along the North Penn, was evidenced last Friday evening at the regular monthly meeting of the board, which was attended by Ralph L. Mayberry, Dr. George Robinson, George Y. Styer and Phillip Maas, directors. The only absentee was Arthur Nichols. Mr. Styer presided at the meeting, and it was his report that indicated that the members are considering the above proposition. Mr. Styer stated that he had visited, during the week, the Upper Darby and Abington high schools for the purpose of securing datta relative to the proposed plan of the Ambler board of a high school building. The Upper Darby building, which cost about $200,000, is complete in every detail and splendidly adapted for the purpokes. Ambler, of course, Mr. Styer said could not consider such an expensive building, under the present assessed valuation of property, which is about $2,000,000, and also under the present tax rate. Upper Darby, it was learned has a 16-mill tax rate, which the assessed valuation of property is about $10,000,000.

While no action was taken at the meeting, nevertheless assurance was given that when final action was taken it will be with a view of erecting a building, that will meet all requirements, of local conditions and at the same time more modern than any of the other schools along the North Penn.

Supervising Principal J. M. Fisher also accompanied Mr. Styer on the visits to the above shoools.

The regular routine business of the board follows: After the reading of the minutes of the February meeting by Secretary Maas, which were approved as read, Principal Fisher made the following report: Total attendance in grades for the month, males 267 females 268, high schools, males 58, females, 76, total attendance 699. Mr. Fisher also reported that he has been successful in securing as teacher Mrs. Robert Smith in place of Miss Morgan. Mr. Mayberry reported that he had visited the Mattison avenue school during the month and it is his opinion that some action should be taken by the board relative to rearrangements to obtain better light for the pupils in some of the rooms. Dr. Robinson reported that he had gone over the matter regarding the trimming of the trees about the Forest avenue school building and suggested the work be done at this time.

Edward H. Faust, treasurer, presented the following report: Balance on hand last statement, $3099.36, received for tuition, W. J. Rouse , $12.63; William C. Evans, $12.63; Whitpain township, $126.30; Upper Dublin township, $505.20; Lower Gwynedd township, $471.52; State appropriation, $1712.30; Edward C. Scott, taxes, $1206.43; total $7146.37; paid out on orders granted, $4702.90, balance on hand at the beginning of the present meeting, $2343.47. Bills ordered paid amounted to $571.44. It was announced that the funds on hand and the amount of money outstanding will be sufficient, by practicing economy, to pay all bills for the current term.

The sale on the Heist place on Monday was largely attended; in fact, it is stated that it was the largest attended sale ever held in this section. Lime Water an Egg Preservative.

Experiments in preserving eggs have been conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture in the last two years, testing different strength solutions of water glass, limewater and various commercial preparations. The best and most economical results have been obtained by using 1 part of water glass to 9 quarts of water. Just as without the salt, showing no advantage with limewater as with water glass, and in many sections limewater is much less expensive

When salt was used with the limewater the results were about the same as iwthout the salt, showing no advantage in using salt. None of the commercial preparations, all of which called for smearing the eggs with the preparation, gave results that were at all satisfactory. When the water glass over for the second year the eggs kept comparatively well, but not so well as in fresh solution. In most cases the old solutions were not in good enough condition to use again after they had been kept one year. Under usual condition, it does not appear advisable to use the solution again for the second year.

In testing containers, the best results were obtained with stone crocks, but the water-glass solution was perfectly satisfactory in well galvanized receptacles, such as garbage cans of ash cans. Limewater coroded the galvanized receptacles and gave satisfactory results only in the earthenware crocks. Wooden kegs and other wooden containers did not give satisfactory results with any of the solutions.

The interest in preserving eggs has been very marked during the last two years and a very large number of leaflets giving directions for preservinb eggs have been distributed, indicating that a great many families are preserving eggs for home use to help keep down the cost of living.

The tapestry factory, Center and Walnut streets is the only industry of our town that seems to be on a boom. The employes are working night and day to fill their orders, the season for which probably is because at the reduced wages they cannot get enough weavers to get out the goods in time by their limited amount of looms in operation.

The big new industry rumored as likely to move from the city to our town is gradually becoming an established fact had it not been for sickness of one of the projectors it would probably have been a fact on last Saturday.

An effort is being made to rejuvenated the closed toy factory above town by some business men coming to its aid.

The property for which the award was made consists of store property, a band hall and a tract containing eight houses.

The jury of view from which appeal was taken resulting in the present trial, made an award of $37,800. The testimony of the witnesses called for plaintiff and defendant made the estimated value of the property range from $35,500 to $62,800. Balmer's own appraisement was $54,000.

John A. Kennedy brought suit against Ralph Beaver Strassburger, well known resident of Centre Square for $500 and interest on a horse sale. The jury agreed with the plaintiff that Mr. Strassburger had bought the horse and rendered a verdict for $545.-83, representing full amount with interest. Strassburger, who is now in Europe, contended that his stable manager, Frank Greaves, had no authority to purchase the animal. The horse was delivered, kept on Normandy Farms and later sold with the rest of the stable to a New York man.

Doylestown Plans Memorial Drive Week.

Doylestown will observe what has been termed as "Memorial Drive Week" starting next Monday. The week has been set aside to raise funds for a memorial monument for the ex-service men of that borough. Definite decision was made on a monument several days ago.

The County Commissioners donated a site for the erection of the monument on the north side of the court house frounds. The site was selected by a committee of artists from the "Artists' Colony," in lower Bucks county.

Committees have started work to solicit suscriptions. The drive will continue throughout March. Present plans are that the monument will be erected either July 4 or on Armistice Day From present indications and plans the monument will cost approximately $10,000 or more. It will be a massive design, original in every detail. The campaign is in charge of the Great War Veterans' Association.

Start Memorial Park.

The borough of Lansdale will start the construction of its memorial park, playground and athletic stadium at once. The frost is not a factor to be considered this year, and preliminary grading will be started immediately. The park tract comprises 10 1-2 acres and will be dedicated as a memorial to the ex-service men of the World War from Lansdale.

It is hoped to complete the construction by autumn. The plans were drawn by the State Department of Architecture. The athletic stadium will include a field for all outdoor sports, surrounded by a quarter-mile cinder track and will contain four tennis courts. The playground will be completely equipped.

Speedway to Be Closed Out.

Hatboro's "million-dollar dream" is ended.

A fight among the officers and members of the Philadelphia Motor Speedway association over the liquidation expected has come to a head.

Two factions have developed in the final disposition of the affairs of the corporation, which expended hundreds of thousands of dollars to establish what was to be a million-dollar speedway and stadium along the Old York road at which affairs of national importance were to have been staged.

Several thousand Philadelphians, residents of the suburbs and of Harrisburg, Pittsburg, Reading and other Pennsylvania cities subscribed $250 each for membership. Options were taken on hundreds of acres of ground in lower Bucks county near Hatboro and grading and construction work started. But with the entry of this country into the world war membership subscriptions lagged, the flow of money to finance the affair slowed up and work stopped entirely.

At the annual meeting of the association on February 4 liquidation processes were discussed, but an adjournment followed until March 7. Bitterness which has developed between the factions is so marked that no amicable determination may result.

Men May Form Valley Forge Club.

The Saturday evening meeting of the Ladies' Valley Forge Community Club was so much enjoyed by the men present at the first anniversary supper, that the suggestion was made that a men's club be formed. This was done by electing D. Voorhees, president; J. Orner, vice president; F. McGlathery, secretary, and F. J. Harges, treasurer. A name for the club will be chosen later. The committee to draft by-laws is composed of D. Voorhees, chairman; F. J. Harges, W. Wismer, J. Orner and F. McGlathery. Mrs. F. J. Harges is president of the Ladies' Club, and Mrs. Jerome Shea, treasurer. The club has done much good reaching out and giving help wherever needed and has over $100 in the treasury. The Twining Estate in Court.

Judge Wm. F. Solly's branch of the court finds many hard nuts to crack, but last week the jurist heard an action in which he was called upon to decide a controversy between executors of an estate, two of the parties, brothers

Iredell Twining, one of the firmknown known as Twining brothers farmers, of Davis Grove Horsham township, is the executor who claims that personal property on the farm of his deceased mother, Hannah Twining, is part of the mother's estate, in contradiction to the claim of the other partner, Wm. P., that the farm implements and stock are owned by William and Iredell.

William is contesting the right of the executors to sell the personal property which amounts to $3698.50 and adding it to the real estate left by Mrs. Twining. His claim is that the farm stock has always belonged to himself and brother, and that Iredell suddenly changed his mind on this, when his sister, Ellen, put in a claim for wages for helping on the farm, and when William refused to pay her.

Iredell, William and Howard are executors. Howard, it appears, has tried to be neutral in the matter, and because of his neutrality, will align with the wishes of neither of his other brothers. The result is that stock on the farm is wasting, and no one has the authority to sell.

The claim of Ellen Twining for wages was made shortly after the death of her mother. It was agreed, according to iredell, that she receive $5 per week for ten years, or a total of $2600. Iredell, agree to pay her half of the claim, but William would not acquiesce. The Iredell lined up with his sister, and declared that she was entitled to a share in the personal property.

A question of jurisdiction was raised by N. H. Larzelere, counsel for Iredell Twining. He declared that the matter should be thrashed out in the courts of equity, but Judge Solly decided to finish the hearing and reach his conclusions later.

Iredell Twinig denied that he ever understood the Twining brothers' business was half this, but thought everything belonged to his mother. He also denied that he changed his mind in this after he had aligned with his sister to get her wages.

TOWNSHIP SUPERVISORS

Consider Problems in County Convention.

T. R. McDowell, of the State Highway Department, Delivers Address—Presided Over by County Commissioner Hatfield—Figures of Interest.

In his remarks before the county road supervisors at Norristown Hon. T. R. McDowell, of the state highway department, mentioed the high standing of Montgomery county not only in regard to road construction, but in other matters as well. He said among other things: "I do not believe that the assessed valuations in townships and counties affects the improvement is rather measured by the type of men and women who live in the various communities.

"Townships are important because they are units of a greater whole, and should take advantage of their every opportunity and not let roads in any part become intolerable. The means of communication to or from places a locality in or outside any sphere of travel.

"Every individual must help in the matter of road improvement, and no one must hold back to accomplish the work successfully. We are in need of road improvement here and now, so that the present generation may reap the benefits to be derived, and that need is urgent. There are 90,000 miles of road needing improvement in the confines of the state, and the problem of the improvement is extremely vast and complex.

"There have been turned over 10,235 miles of road by the townships to the state by which the townships have been relieved of an expense of $50 per mile for upkeep. The State has a system to appropriate sums that is beyond criticism for the reason that partisanship, locality or partiality in no wise enter into the distribution, these sums going to the place where the greatest good is accomplished for the greatest number of persons.

"It is the desire at the present time by those in authority to connect every county in the state with improved roads, and this, it is estimated, will require about 35 per cent. of the mileage under state control. Every half mile of road that is improved makes it easier and also shows the need of extending improvements, and you cannot do better than take advantage of every opportunity to improve, no matter what the expense.

"There are 445 miles of unfinished improvements on the state program, and when this is completed the work of improvement will have only just begun to give Pensylvania the best roads of any state in the country. There have been no contracts let by the State Highway Department since June, 1920, owing to the extremely high cost of construction, but the administration is taking steps to complete the primary program, and bids were received last week for a resumption of this work.

"My advice to the members of this association is to get busy and improve all the roads possible in your county. There are 37 counties in the state that have issued bonds for road improvement, and I feel that the question of roads in this county is in capable and efficient hands. The burden now rests on the township supervisors. There are 1507 townships in the state, each having three supervisors, with practically 80,000 miles of road under their care, and these officials exert a tremendous power if they but take advantage of it."

The speaker closed his remarks with an admonition to the assembled supervisors to take special care of the drainage in the country districts and to drag the surface of the roads in early spring. He said that the duty of maintenance of the roads depends on four distinct sources, namely ,state, county, township and alltogether, the last being by no the least of the four. He also stated that in the very near future the women, as citizens, will have an important part to play in the matter of road improvement, and that there is a bill pending to enable the state to take over the burden of keeping towship roads in repair at places where state highways are intersected with detours during improvements to the highways.

Chairman Hatfield introduced Frederick W. Weaver, of State College, who discussed the topic of "The relation of Highways to Farming Problems.

The speaker gave pertinent figures combating the statistics and publications of the "back to the farm" movement and stating that the above movement and publications have caused the farmer all sorts of confusion. He said: Between 1909 and 1914 records show that the food and grain crops produced in the U. S. averaged 47 bushels per capita. During the next 5 years this not only held its own but increased 5 bushels per capita in 1919 and this production exceeded by 10 per cent. the percentage of growth in population. The production in 1920 went to 53 bushels per capita.

"Not only was this so, but during the period from 1909 to 1919 we exported6 1-2 millions of tons of foodstuffs; in 1917, 17 millions of tons; last year we dropped back to 12 million and it is estimated that this year the exports will amount to 10 millions of tons; yet these stupendous figres are only a small percentage of what we produced.

"In Pennsylvaia the great bulk of the production is consumed by those living in the confines of the state, and last year,' notwithstanding the fact that the industrial pay roll of the state dropped 750 millions of dollars, the the same condition existed.

"The surplus of any article controls the price of marketable products and the question of the disposal is the greatest factor to the farmer to determine his prices. This is a fundamental and an economic law, it is the problem of the farmer to adjust himself to these conditions. He must meet world competition to be successful, and he must have a clear understanding of those conditions.

"As long as the condition exists, there are two outstanding problems facing the farmer; first, economical production, and, next, economical distribution and a successful means of transportation of the products are important in working out the solution; and this is where the construction of good roads for trucking interests you, as supervisors.

"If 20 per cent of the population can produce commodities, the balance of 80 per cent can be used in other pursuits. We must learn to systematize and in this work good roads are a vital factor."

—The Robert Lauson tailoring factory at Richlandtown will be moved to Berks county.

Wm. J. Ehrnfeldt, of the Keystone Pretzel Co., Norristown, has proven that he is not dependant upon John Barleycorn for his success. Since the 18th amendment, he has found that business has increased at least 1-3, his present output being 500 small cans, 100 large cans, and 6 barrels of pretzels per week. Before prohibition, pretzels were little known outside the bar, but that was the birth of their fame. When the workingman was invited to spend his money elsewhere he decided to share with his family which before he could only afford to enjoy himself.

The Keystone Pretzel Co. has installed a new rolling machine which has a capacity of one hundred and twenty pretzels a minute.

The creditors of the defunct Conshohocken Burial Casket company will receive about 40 cents on the dollar, should the court approve the petition filed providing for the sale of the sale of the plant for $52,500. Attorney Wright informed the court that the offer received for the plant is the best obtainable and more than double the price offered by other concerns. It was stated that B. F.. Evans, receiver appointed for the company, had found that $30,000 was owed to preferred creditors and something like $80,000 to others, most of which was lost before the company was in condition to conduct business.

Gas Wrecks New Church.

With a report heard more than a square away, escaping gas exploded in the new Methodist church at Lansdale Saturday morning, wrecking the basement of the church. The gas was just turned into the church about 5 o'clock Friday night. When carpenters arrived in the morning the fumes of gas drove them out and the Lansdale office of the Philadelphia Suburban Gas and Electric Co. was notified.

An employe was investigating the source of the leak when the explosion occurred. His escape from injury is considered remarkable. The Lansdale fire company was summoned, but the fire was slight. The wreckage was the result of the explosion.

THE WORLD'S BIGGEST JOB—AND ITS SCOPE

Every year the Presidency of the United States grows more important, until now it is recognized as the biggest job in the world.

Yet few people realize that the president is not chosen by a majority vote and that several of our presidents have not been the most popular choice of all the people. This fact is clearly discussed in the story of the Presidency, one of the series of articles on Our Government, which we are issuing monthly.

Why Colds are Dangerous.

It is the serious disease that colds lead to that make them dangerous. They prepare the system for the reception and development of the germs of influenza, pneumonia, tuberculosis dyptheia, scarlet fever, whooping cough and measles. You are much more likely to contract these disease when you have a cold. For that reason you should get rid of every cold as quickly as possible. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will help you. It is widely known as a cure for bad colds. mar

Rev.. Philip Gallagher Rector of St. Matthew's

Rev. Philip Gallagher, who has assumed the duties of rector of St. Matthew's Church Conshohocken, in succession to the late Rev. James P. Parker, is being well received by the parishioners, his appointment being regarded as a wise selection by the Cardinal-Designate, Archbishop Dougherty. Father Gallagher is eminently fitted to assume the mantle of responsibility of so important a parish.

Father Gallagher was an assistant at St. Patrick's Church that borough, prior to being assigned to Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, Emmettsburg, Md., where, for the past seventeen years, he has been an instructor. He is a native of Garbondale, this state, and is highly esteemed.

The Archbishop felt called upon to make appointment for St. Matthew's prior to his departure for Rome. Had he not acted, the rectorship would remained open util after the prelate returns from the visit to the vatican.

It is the purpose of then ew rector to continue the broad and liberal policies which gained for Father Parker the admiration of the people of Conshohocken, and to carry to an early consummation those plans in connection with the church and school establishment in Conshohocken which were interrupted by the illness of the now deceased priest, but for which provision and plans were practically completed. In this Father Gallagher will have the hearty support of the people of St.. Matthew's.

Upper Providence Farm Sold.

State May Yet Take Over Haycock Mountain.

Haycock mountain forestry project loomed high recently in discussion before the meeting of the Bucks County Fish, Game and Forestry Association resulting in the appointment of the chairman of the Forestry committee, J. Freeman Hendricks, to go to Harrisburg to ascertain in the exact situation of the proposition before the state forestry commission.

In reporting as chairman of the forestry committee. Mr. Hendricks said he hardly knew what the situation really is regarding the Haycock Mountain proposition, although he does not consider the fight lost. Something he thought should be done at once. He thought it advisable to send a representative to Harrisburg as there are a number of matters concerning forestry affairs to be inquired into at this time.

Vicious legislation, he said is underway that ought to be halted at once, if possible. One of the proposed acts before the legislature would enable the United States to acquire Pennsylvania's 1,000,000 acres of forestry lands as a scheme to centralize all forestry lands in the country under the control of the federal government, which would take these lands away from this State forever The state forestry commission, it is said, is in sympathy with this national policy. The federal government could then take over Haycock mountain. The State Forestry association would then go out of business and the money and efforts expended would be gone.

Another consideration is that the state pays tax for schools and roads on such lands, while the United States government would pay none.

Is Ordered to Help Support Aged Mother.

Warren Christman, of Barren Hill at session of court at Norristown, was required to give bond for the payment of $2 a week to his mother, Mrs. Mary Christman, of West Lafayette street, Norristown. The weman is 84 years of age.

Winfield S. Christman, another son, testified that Warren had agreed to share equally $6 a week for the support of the mother, but that he had not been doing it.

Warren told the court that he was out of work—at least, was working only part time at the steel plant and had his own family to support.

The court did not consier that Warren is making enough to pay more than $2. He must pay more when he makes full time.

—Doylestown council voted to join the Association of Pennsylvania Boroughs.

—Aquilla Castle, K. G. E., of Perkasie celebrated its 26th anniversary, with 400 members and guests in attendace.

Fire Co. Observes 74th Anniversary.

The seventy-fourth anniversary of the Montgomery Hose and Steam Fire Engine Company, Norristown, celebrated on Feb. 22, at City Hall, with a banquet and entertainment by 300 members and invited guests, was one of its kind ever held by the fire-fighters.

Lansdale's Bandit Whistle.

When the discarded Lansdale fire whistle emits a series of toots hereafter residents of the community will hastily arm themselves and rush to a designated spot as did the minute men of old. A series of toots of the whistle will herald the fact that lawlessness has gripped Lansdale and that there is dire need for an armed posse.

The series of sort blasts from the whistle means that burglars, "yeggs" or hold-up men are active; or that there has been a kidapping abduction, murder, etc.

The crime alarm for a general summons in case of a lawless outburst was suggested by the Lansdale banking institutions. Hiram B. Weachter and John B. Detweiler, presidents and chief of the Lansdale Fire Department, decided the old fire whistle could well be used as an alarm so this means of calling out an armed gathering is now in vogue.

Charles W. McGinnis, commander of the William E. Hare Post, American Legion, of Lansdale, has ordered that the ex-service men see to securing proper firearms and respond in a body the moment the whistle sounds.

Almost Saws Way Out of Lansdale Lockup.

William J. Roberts, of Philadelphia, aged 22, taken into custody by Detective John Stevenson, of Lansdale, while acting in a suspicious manner about the homes and churches of Lansdale ,tried to saw his way out of the Lansdale lockup.

When the Lansdale officer, whose whole business is to look after the welfare of the prisoners in the lockup, went to the cell in which Roberts was detained and took hold of one of the bars covering the opening in the cell door, the bar suddenly gave way. It had been almost completely sawed through from the inside. The trick was done in a rather peculiar manner, with an improvised piece of ragged-edged steel, converted into a form of saw.

By reason of Detective Stevenson's attendance at Criminal Court last week, the matter of the nivestigation of the theft at the A. C. Mott home, a few days ago, had been takes up by the state police from Ambler. Roberts, in view of his conduct both before and after his arrest, was turned over to these officers to be grilled with reference to the Mott case.

Unique Jury Experience.

Andrew G. Godshall, a Salford merchant, had the rather unique experience, during a recent session of criminal court, of serving as a juror on two successive trials of the same action, at two successive terms of court.

Mr. Godshall was on the panel which sat in the trial, at the November term of court, of G. D. Evans, a Lansdale junk dealer, charged with receiving stolen goods, in the purchase of fittings which belonged to the Suburban Gas Company. That jury was unable to agree upon a verdict, though it is not known how Mr. Godshall stood in that instance.

It chanced that Mr. Godshall's name was placed in the 1921 jury wheel and that he was drawn for service last week. When the Evans case wal called for trial before Judge Miller, it so happened that he was one of the number in the panel called to sit in the case.

The Court, the attorneys in the case, and the parties at issue did not recognize Mr. Godshall as one of the jurors in the previous trial of the case.

Conditions upon which the franchise is to change hands are these: The latter club, it is said by an official of the Fort club, will return to the home team the $100 guarantee paid into the treasury of the league, $25 ...rance fee for the local club to enter the Suburban league and a part of the Fort team's expenses during the season of 1921. There is great rejoicing in the iron town over having secured admission in the Montgomery County league, and business and professional men are doing all they can to back the club.
